BORO COUNCIL DISCUSSES PURCHASE OF WATERWORKS

The Borough Council held its regular meeting Monday evening at the Council Chamber. In addition to the general routine of business, the council authorized Supt. Norman to extend the electric line to the gluss factory and erect all four street lights.

The proposition that the boro purchase the local waterworks, was thoroughly discussed at the council meeting, T. F. Hungiville was an ardent exponent of the idea, and spoke at length, demonstrating the good which would come to the town, if this plan be carried out.

A committee consisting of T. F. Hungiville and councilmen Ray Abbey and John Lindholme was appointed to find the sentiment of the tax payers on the matter, and also what the advantages would be.

A committee representing the Smethport Fire Department was present, and requested that an ordinance be passed, prohibiting the running of vehicles over the hose and limiting the number of persons riding on a fire truck to seven, also regulating traffic at fires and particularly the parking of automobiles in order that the way be left open for the free passage of fire apparatus.

The Service Garage was given permission to put in an additional gasoline tank in front of its establishment.

The council directed that the poles and cross arms carrying electric wires be painted and ordered paint necessary for the purpose.

The matter of filling the vacancy on the Borough Council caused by the death of Frank Sartwell was undertaken. Chas. Freeman and T. F. Hungiville were nominated but owing to a tie the matter was deferred until next meeting of the council.

The matter of increasing the width of the pavement at the turn in the road at McCoys corners was brought before the council by councilmen Abbey, it being understood that our esteemed townsmen Alba Gilfillen would furnish sufficient cement for the purpose, if the boro would complete the job. No definite action was taken.

JOHN HENDRICKSON DIED IN ERIE.

John Hendrickson old resident of this place died June 27th in Erie at the home of his daughter, Mrs Altie Johnson.

Mr. Hendrickson had been visiting his daughter for the past six months, and had been in poor health but not so as to occasion any serious fears as to his death.

He was born in Sullivan county, N. Y. in 1849 and came to this part of the country about 20 years ago where he became identified with the lumber business. He leaves many friends who will regret his demise.

He is survived by two daughters: Mrs. Alta Johnson and Mrs. James Connolly of Erie; four sons Sam and Lewis of Crosby, Arthur of Cleveland, Ohio, and John of Bradford by a first marriage. By his second marriage he is survived by his wife and seven children.

Funeral services were held in Erie and the body was brought here for interment at Rose Hill cemetery. The services at the cemetery was at 2 p. m. Friday, Rev. S. A. Renicks officiating.

MRS. C. LOOKER HURT WHEN CAR TURNS OVER.

Mrs. J. C. Looker is in the Bradford hospital suffering from slight injuries sustained when a machine driven by Mr. Looker skidded in trying to pass another car and turned over at the foot of Red Rock hill about 7:30 o'clock last night. Mr. and Mrs. Looker were returning from Cuba, N. Y. In attempting to pass another machine the Looker car swerved from the road and went into a ditch turning turtle.

Broken glass from a smashed window inflicted a severe cut on Mrs. Looker's hand, several stitches being required to close the wound. She was taken to the hospital by Lawrence Dana of Derrick City. At an early hour this morning she was reported as resting well. Mr. Looker escaped without injury and the machine was only slightly damaged.—Era June 29.

LIGHTNING PLAYS QUEER PRANKS

During the electric storm Tuesday evening lightning entered the home of Mrs. Jane Young on South street, and did some curious things.

Mrs. Young saw the sharp flash and upon investigation found that it had struck a metal water bottle, which stood between two water pipes, making deep dents in the bottle. It also entered a bed room and completely shattered a mirror, and broke the glass in several pictures. It did not set life to the building and Mrs. Young did not feel any bad effects from the lightning.

MRS. M. A. ELLIS, FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN GLENDORA, CALIFORNIA.

Mrs. Mary Ann Ellis died June 24, 1923 at her home in Glendora, California, at the age of 78 years. The cause of her death were the ills ipcident to old age.

Mrs. Ellis was born in Titona, Pa., September 20, 1845 and moved with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Beckwith to Farmers Valley when a small girl. She was married to Royal W. Ellis in February 1867, whose farm adjoined her parents and lived there until 1900 when they moved to Glendora, California where Mr. Ellis died in 1901.

She was an active member of the Smethport Baptist church as long as she lived here, and in her western home has been a member of the Christian church in which she was a zealous worker. She was a devout mother and splendid type of woman, she leaves many friends both here and in Glendora.

She is survived by two children Charles Oakley Ellis of Los Angles, and Mrs. Harry Shavley of Glendora, and six brother and sisters: Chas Beckwith, Olean, N. Y., Elmer Beckwith of Alfred, N. Y., Mrs. L. Steinhauer, Farmers Valley, Mrs. Milton Wright, Eldred, Mrs. Juliet Roader, Oberlin, Ohio, and Mrs. Harriet Stull, Portville.

REEVES-HASKALL REUNION.

A very delightful family reunion was held last Thursday at Riverside Park, when the members of the two families met for their 10th reunion. There were 150 in attendance and the afternoon was spent in dancing. Te new officers elected for the coming year were: President, Geo. Reeves, and Vice-President Richard Dunham, both of East Aurora, N. Y.; Chairman Lloyd Downey, and Secretary C. G. Reeves both of Smethport, Pa.,

Those from town who attended the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. A. F Reeves, Mr and Mrs. C. G. Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reeves Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Downey and family, Mr and Mrs. Howard Acre, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Abbey and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lynch.

JOHNSONBURG DEFEATS INDEPENDENTS.

The ball game Sunday afternoon between Johnsonburg American Legion and Smethport Independents, resulted in a victory for Johnsonburg, the score being 13 to 11. Charley McGowan batting was an important feature of the game. Denning had goose oil on his glove again.

The batteries were: Smethport; Jiggs Walker and Tommy Clark, pitchers, Louie Hull, catcher. Johnsonburg: Delong, catcher, Kinney pitcher.

The all Indian team of Red House will be here next will be here next Sunday afternoon. The lineup will be changed. McGowan, catcher, McDermott 1st base.

H. J. ELLSWORTH BUYS BUILDING.

H. J. Ellsworth has bought the building now occupied by Mrs. Clair White's Millinery store, and will take possession the 1st of August. Mr. Ellsworth hasn't decided whether he will use it as a residence or a business place. Mrs. White expects to sell her stock immediately.

ORVILLE HALPENNY HOME.

Orville Halpenny who was operated upon some time ago in the the Bradford hospital for appendicitis, returned home Monday. He is improving rapidly which is good news to his many friends.

CARS COLLIDE IN EAST SMETHPORT.

William Jones son of E. W. Jones of West Main street had his Chevrolet roadster badly smashed up Wednesday p. m. about 5:30, in front of Thornton's store in East Smethport when a man named Bellandi from Betula attempted to pass between the Jones car, and Thornton's car which was parked in front of the store. As the street was too narrow to allow the three cars to pass, the result was a collision in which the Jones car received the worst of it. There were four women with Bellandi in the Ford touring car, but no one was injured in the accident. The Chevrolet car belonging to Jones had a wheel broken off and radiator and fender damaged. The Ford car had a bent fender and a broken axle.

CIRCUS PERFORMERS ROBBED DURING PARADE.

While Gentry Bros show was giving its big parade Tuesday afternoon thieves entered the dressing tent of the performers and helping themselves to a gold watch and several small pieces of jewery.

The robbery was discovered as soon as the performers returned, and Sheriff Robinson was put on their trail. Four of the tent hands were missing and suspicion at once fell on them. It was found they were making their way out of town up the Shawmut track. Alfonso Ross section boss saw them, and told Supt. Chas. Taylor at the poor farm who telephoned Sheriff Robinson where the men were. When the sheriff arrived they made no attempt to get away, and handed over the stolen watch and a ten dollar gold piece. They were young fellows, the oldest not over 20. They had no money of their own and had tired of circus life, and had planned on leaving and selling the stolen jewelry.

Sheriff Robinson gave them a good lecture and advised them to mend their ways. The last reports are that they returned to the circus before it left town.

ELDRED APT TO LOSE ITS GAS SUPPLY

Rumors have been flying around Eldred all week that the gas for the Eldred Home Gas & Fuel Co., was to be shut off at the source of supply and the lines outside the borough taken up and sold.

No one in the gas office could give any information, and on one on the outside had any authoritative information, but it was stated that notices were sent out the first of the month that on August 1st the flow of gas would cease.

Shutting off of the supply of gas would be not only an inconvenience but a hardship and should not be permitted for an instant, says the Eldred Eagle.

The rights of the public should be properly safeguarded in respect to natural resources for public service corporations and should not be permitted to come into the hands of irritable individuals.—Bradford Star, 30.

GUSTAF ENGSTROM.

Gustaf Engstrom who was taken seriously ill while at work last week and had several hemorrhages, is much improved, although he is still confined to his bed. Physicians stated the hemorrhages were due to stomach trouble.

AMERICAN LEGION MEETS MONDAY EVENING.

At the meeting of the Bucktail Post, American Legion, held Monday evening, delegates to the convention to be held the 11th and 12th of July, in Bradford were elected. The chairman for the different committees, were appointed as follows: Fred Burlingame, Band committee: Tommy Clark, Baseball committee: Dr. Alvie Livermore, Athletics.

Ten delegates and ten alternates were elected.

SCOTT CONNOLLY MISSING.

Scott Connolly of Port Allegany, a former resident of this place has been missing since Tuesday, p. m. when he left the glass factory where he was employed about 3:30, and has not been seen since. His relatives and friends have no clue to his whereabouts, and think he may have gone to Buffalo or some other city to obtain employment. A search is being made for him. Various conjectures are afloat as to his disappearance, but it hardly seems possible that he could have met with foul play, as he vanished in broad daylight.

HELEN JONES BURNED HAND.

Helen Jones 12 year old daughter of E. W. Jones of West Main street burned her right arm to the elbow and her fingers July 4th, when she turned on the gas in the oven, and crossed the room to get a match. When she applied the lighted match the rush of flames came directly against her arm with serious results. She is much improved at present.

EVERYONE OF EIGHT PERSONS IN HOUSE BURNED

DuBois, June 30.—Three members of the family of Truman E. Walls are dead, another is dying and four badly burned as the result of one of the most horrible fires in the history of DuBois which gutted the Walls home at 104 1-2 State Street shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday morning.

The dead are: John, aged four, burned to death in the house, body recovered at 7 o'clock. Tom aged six horribly burned all over body excepting abdomen, died in Maple Avenue hospital at 9:30 o'clock.

James, aged 13, horribly burned about body head and limbs died in DuBois hospital at 10:30 o'clock.

The dying: Robert, age 16, head and arms burned badly, in DuBois hospital.

The injured: Mrs. Walls burned about head and arms, in DuBois hospital.

Truman, aged 2, burned about face and feet in DuBois hospital.

Lillian, aged five months, burned about feet, in DuBois hospital.

Francis, aged 12, burned on feet and hands in Maple Avenue hospital.

The cause of the tragedy that cast a shadow of pall over the entire community is not definitely known, nor is there an explanation for the toll of life taken, other than the shock and excitement of the awakening in a house full of smoke and the speed with which the fire swept through the house.

Mrs. Clate Irons of this place is a sister of Truman E. Walls the father of the family.

PATSY MUSSOLINO IS ARRESTED BY RAIDERS

Patsy Mussolino, well known resident of Bradford, is under bail in the sum of $300 on the charge of illegal manufacture and possession of intoxicating liquors. His bail was fixed by Alderman Brooks, of the Fifth ward, following a raid by the officers, of Mussolino's house, 14 River street yesterday afternoon.

In the house in a locked room, a double still in full running order was found together with 350 gallons of mash and 150 gallons of home-brewed beer in barrels; a 10-gallon keg of wine; 55 gallons of moonshine whiskey; two gallons of color materials in a jug; two cases of small empty bottles similar to those known as nursing bottles; a hydrometer and shotgun.

Those were all seized by the officers. Samples of the beer and mash were taken and the balance was spilled. The outfit was taken to Smethport.

The raiding party consisted of County Detective Jack Allison of Smethport; Chief of Police Solt of Bradford and Game Warden Carl Benson. These officers first went to the Fleitron building, at Barbour and Center streets, on a tip that had been received, but nothing incriminating was found there. Then they proceeded to River street to Mussolino's house, and after knocking at the door were admitted.

Mussolino was at home and he was asked some questions by the raiding officials. He had nothing to say. A search was instituted and it was found the room already mentioned, was locked.

"What have you in here?" Allison asked. Mussolina did not admit that anything important was concealed in the apartment. "Where is the key?" persuaded Allison. "I've lost the key to that room," said Mussolino. Then the door was forced open and the layout was revealed. Mussolina was at once placed under arrest.

The party subsequently went to Alderman Brooks' office where Game Warden Benson took action against the prisoner for having a firearm in his possesion without a permit, the weapon being a shotgun. Mussolino admitted guilt and paid a fine of $25, with $2 costs, thus closing the matter of the fire arm.

A hearing was then held on the moonshine phase of the affair and Mussolino was bound over to the October term of court in the sum of $3,000. He had no trouble in obtaining bail.

Throughout the proceedings Mussolino accepted the situation stoically regardless of the fact that $3,000 worth of an outfit and wet goods had been seized and confiscated—that being the value thereof to the proprietor.

The bootlegging salesmen of the city are said to have obtained a large share of their supplies from Mussolino, but this, of course, is largely street corner gossip. Bootlegging gentlemen are not in the habit of giving away their trade secret.—Sunday Herald, July 2.

ENCAMPMENT I. O. O. F OF KANE PLAN BIG MEETING.

Kane Odd Fellows of the Encampment anticipate an enjoyable and interesting meeting Thursday night when 75 or more of their lodge brothers and candidates from Smethport and Mt. Jewett will visit here and the local lodge will exemplify the work of the Golden Rule degree on a large class of candidates.

A few weeks ago Kane and Mt. Jewett lodges visited Smethport where the first degree was conferred. Some time in the near future Kane and Smethport will visit Mt. Jewett where the third degree will be exemplified. The Kane meeting is the second one of the triangular arrangement.

There will be a "feed" following the serious work of the meeting and a social session that is looked forward to with great anticipation as these lodges have found out that they form a combination that knows exactly how to have a good time.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to thank the hose company, and all those neighbors and townspeople, who so kindly gave their efforts to save our household goods and home from destruction in the recent fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Hector and family.

REMARKABLE RYE.

A. E. Stickles, a well known Keating township farmer visited the Miner office this week with a sample of rye grown on a lot of 15 acres on his farm. It is 71 inches high, and as many as 50 stalks have grown from a single kernel. This is remarkable because no lime or phosphate was usd on the ground, and the dry season has been extremely hard on all crops.

LOWELL RICE DIED TUESDAY IN THE BRADFORD HOSPITAL

Lowell Rice, well known resident of Smethport died Tuesday in the Bradford hospital following an operation for gall stones. He had not been well for some time, and spent last winter in Florida with his mother, but was not critically ill until Saturday evening. He was taken to the Bradford hospital Monday, and operated upon Tuesday, his death closely following.

Mr. Rice was born March 11, 1878 on the Rice farm at Coryville, his parents were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Rice and his whole life was spent in this place. He was a farmer by occupation, a splendid man of examplary habits, his word was as good as his bond.

He was a member of Coryville Grange and of the Odd Fellows lodge of this place.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. G. W. Rice, two sisters, Mrs. Lena Smith and Mrs. Lina Randall and a brother Duane Rice of Portville N. Y.

The funeral services will be held Friday at the family residence, Rev. Arthur Gregson officiating.

GENTRY BROS. SHOW PLEASES CROWD.

Gentry Bros Famous Show and James Patterson's Wild Animal Circus, which gave one performance July 3rd, at the Community field, scored a big hit with everyone present. The big parade given during the noon hour had partly prepared people for the splendid performance which was to follow, and in the afternoon the big tent was very well filled.

The brilliant introductory pageant, "A Child's Dream of Fairyland" was the first number, and was a panorama of royal magnificence, completely filling the hippidrome course.

There were amazing performances on the swinging ladders, superb exhibits on the tight wire.

The well trained horses and dogs were a never failing source of admiration.

There were high jumping greyhounds, and collies who rode horses, lions who obeyed their trained instantly, and horses who danced the two step, hesitation and tango. Immense elephants who did many amusing tricks and tiny ponies in a series of difficult drills, and of course clowns of all kinds.

The final display was in flying human "butterflies" a beautiful and difficult feat.

The large band which accompanied the show added materially to its successful performance.

MOORE-DALTON.

Ethel Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Moore of Coleville, and Raymond Dalton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dalton of Coleville, were united in marriage June 30th at Olean, N. Y.

The bride is a popular young lady who graduated with high honors from the Smethport high school, in the class of 1923.

The groom is a well known young man who works in the oil fields. They have gone for an extended motor trip on their honey moon. On their return they expect to reside in Coleville.

The Miner with a host of friends extends its congratulations.

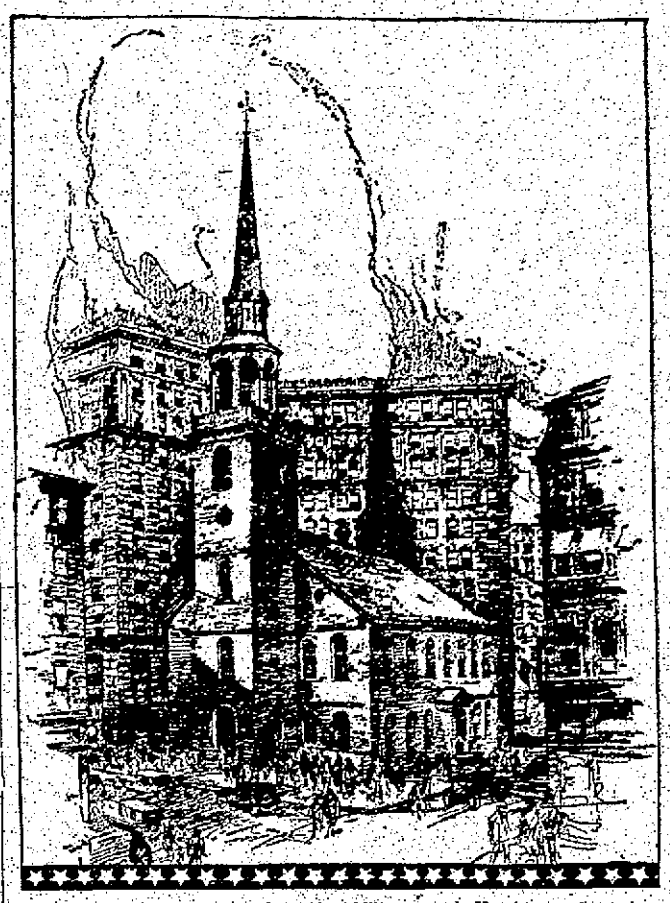
A HEARTY WELCOME AWAITS YOU.

Fine View of Old South Church



Several hundred men stood in the heat of a July afternoon idly watching the work of excavating the cellar for the great office building which is to stand on the site of the old Province house on Washington street in Boston. They crowded around the board fence, two and three deep, looking down into the hole where steam drills bored, cranes swung slowly, great shovels cut into the soil, and men carted dirt. Not one was seen to turn about to look up at the Old South Meeting house, which stood diagonally across the street, revealed for the first time in many years from a distance far enough removed to do justice to its Wren-like spire and its fine proportions.

The first meeting house on this site was built in 1669, in the garden of the John Winthrop mansion, which then belonged to Mary Norton. It was a little church of cedar wood, but here Benjamin Franklin, who was born just across the road, was baptized in 1706. Here, also Margaret Brewster appeared in "sackcloth and ashes" during service to give the congregation solemn warning because of the persecution of the Quakers. That was in 1677. About twenty years later Judge Sewell stood up in his pew while his confession for his part in the witchcraft delusion of 1692 was read.

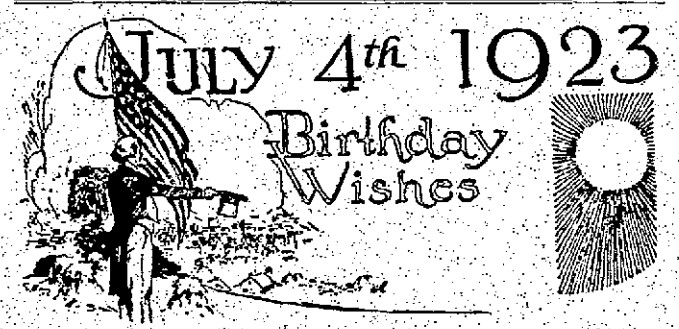
Historic Meeting House of Provincial and Revolutionary Days.

The present brick building was dedicated in 1730 and in the course of the next century saw many stirring town meetings which were too large for Faneuil hall. In March, 1770, such an overflow meeting waited here while Samuel Adams sent back and forth negotiating with Hutchinson until he yielded and withdrew his regiments from the city. On November 27, 1773, a gathering of 5,000 citizens resolved that the tea on which King George bade them pay a tax, should not be landed. On December 16 of the same year 7,000 citizens waited here by candlelight for the return of a courier who had been dispatched to Milton to ask Hutchinson for redress. When he brought word that there would be none, a war whoop was raised outside the church and a group of patriots, disguised as Indians, rushed down to Griffin's wharf where the ships were lying and pitched the tea overboard. Another dramatic scene occurred in 1775 when Joseph Warren entered the pulpit from a window above to deliver his now famous oration on the Boston massacre. The aisles and the very steps of the pulpit were crowded with redcoated officers and men.

The Election Sermon.

Until 1872 the church was the scene of the picturesque ceremony started in 1712, the annual election sermon, at which the newly elected governor and all the provincial or state dignitaries appeared in the pride and pomp of office to give thanks for their election and to dedicate themselves to the work which lay before them.

A church with such a history as this would be more truly appreciated if it were almost anywhere except just where it is, for in this part of Boston it has two rivals which have been preserved to carry on the very traditions for which it stands. Faneuil hall, honored throughout the United States and not unknown in Europe, is today the fitting meeting place of idealists and reformers. And King's chapel, also only a few blocks away, is now just as when the be-ribboned and belaced officers of the British army and their Tory hosts attended service there, a dignified and beautiful place of worship. Obviously the Old South cannot compete with the "Cradle of Liberty" as a meeting place for young America, nor can it serve in its first capacity without many changes and a continuous sacrifice on the part of the congregation in going far downtown on Sunday mornings. So it has come about that today the Old South church is for the average Bostonian only a historic and cherished exterior.



The passing of the years but mark thy course,
Dear cherished land (in all the earth the best),
Upon the far and Christly road
Where all the world shall rise to call thee blest.

Thy hamlets and thy farms in sweet content
Dream softly in thy twilight's ling'ring glow,
Where war may ne'er again be heard
Nor alien banner ever dare to flow.

The hist'ry of thy past, of slave and lord,
Sad chronicle of famine's deadly reign,
Of storm, and red man's barb'rous law,
On thy white scroll have left no lasting stain.

But rather shall thy glory shine the more,
To clearly show thy upward-reaching bounds
That mount upon the chastened past,
To tread with joy its ladder's lifting rounds.

Thy cities and thy gallant ships grow fair,
Nor hate nor conquest cloud thy wide domain,
Where love and strength together rule,
A mighty and a heaven-gotten twain.

Oh may thy cloudless sun, dear native land,
That lights the millions' weary path,
Where peace and justice spread a healing balm,
Ne'er darkly set in shadow of thy wrath

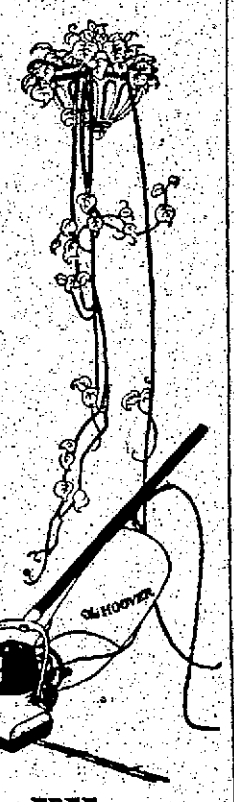
Talk to Hoover Users Before You Buy.



Although there is an electric cleaner in only one out of every three wired homes—and despite the fact that a majority of these cleaners are comparatively new—already from 30 per cent of our sales are being made to owners of other machines! The conclusion is obvious. And, from what we hear from Hoover users, the percentage will grow. As one woman aptly puts it, "some of my friends liked my Hoover so well that they sold their other cleaner and bought Hoovers. Others are sorry they didn't know about The Hoover before buying. Many people are satisfied with their cleaners until they see The Hoover, work."

Satisfied users of The Hoover, more than any other factor, have made it the largest selling electric cleaner; be guided by this in your choice.

O. S. GAHAGAN,
July 1, 1923. Mt. Jewett, Pa.

O. S. GAHAGAN

Added to the list of announcements for the county offices, the Miner today prints that of O. S. Gahagan, of Mt. Jewett, who seeks renomination for the office of county commissioner. Mr. Gahagan has successfully filled this office for the past eight years. He is well known in all sections of the county and his candidacy should appeal to the voters. He has been a life-long Republican and prior to becoming county commissioner he served as postmaster at Mt. Jewett. Mr. Gahagan attends to the duties of the office in a conscientious manner and believes that his record entitles him to re-election. He will make a thorough personal canvass of the county and also has a number of friends who will devote considerable time in his behalf. He enters the race with a loyal following and will prove a strong candidate.

THE VALOR OF IGNORANCE

How some people do delight to slander the United States. For instance, a woman speaking at the recent conference on social work, declared that the United States is the only civilized government in the world which does nothing to assist its people to secure homes. But she hails from a state along the Atlantic seaboard and never saw one of the hundreds of thousands of homesteads the government gave to its citizens a few years ago, and is still giving. Fifty years ago most o fthe region west of the Mississippi wa a broad expansion of prairie inhabited by coyotes and wolves. today it is the granary of the nation. Uncle Sam, homebuilder, made it so by "doing everything to facilitate home ownership." The wonder is that the lady who spoke at the social work conference would even admit that this is a civilized nation.—Faulding O., Republican.

LEARNING TO SWIM.

The great number of drowning accidents that occur every summer is a sharp reminder that every child should be taught to swim. Even a child living in the city and town, where swimming places are not easily available, the drowning peril hazards their lives just the same. At some time or other they are sure to go to resorts where they use boats and canoes and go in bathing freely. The less they have learned of the water and its dangers, the greater the chance of a mishap.

Boys and girls never seem so exuberantly happy as when they are in a swimming pool or on bathing beaches. The cool feel of the water exhilarates them to ecstasy. Cities and towns that lack natural bathing facilities ought to provide pools from their regular water supply or otherwise, so that young people shall get this supreme pleasure of their summer life.—Kane Republican.

PRESIDENT REA OF PENNA. R. R. TELLS HIS SIDE

Philadelphia, June 29.—Declaring that the Pennsylvania railroad desired to obey every "valid law" enacted by properly constituted authority, President Samuel Rea, in a statement to employes last night, said the management took specific exception to the statement of the railroad labor board that the Pennsylvania had denied to its employes any "essential rights" to which Congress had declared them entitled.

"There is no warrant whatever for such a statement, "Mr. Rea said.

"It is regrettable," declares Mr. Rea's statement, "that the railroad labor board in its attacks upon the Pennsylvania railroad system is entirely candid with the public. The impression that our company was under obligation to comply with the decisions of the board on account of the supreme court decision.

"The fact that the United States supreme court made it very plain that our company was not obliged to observe the labor board's decision if it felt that its constitutional and legal rights of the company and its employes would be invaded if it complied with the decisions of the board in the shop crafts and clerks cases."

After declaring that the Pennsylvania was a law abiding company and desired to obey all "valid laws" the statement continued.

"Within the limitation it holds itself responsible to the public for the safe and economical operation of its railroad. That responsibility by the labor board.

The management is confident that neither its employes nor a well informed public will be misled by the labor board's unwarranted statements. It is unfortunate that this board, in the face of unmistakable facts should through the medium of its decision resort to such attacks instead of, as it should, commending both the employes and the management of the Pennsylvania railroad system for our success in providing a mutually satisfactory means of preventing discord and promoting industrial peace, of which you are aware from results that have been achieved, and in which you have so cordially cooperated."

FARMER PLOWS UP TWO INDIAN RELICS.

Coudersport, July 2.—Milo Lymanof Roulette, recently brought an Indian pestle and Indian kneading board to town which had been unearthed by Charles Knowlton while plowing near Knowlton Station. The pestle is about 11 inches in long and about three inches in diameter while the kneading board is also of rock and measures about 12 by 15 inches. Both pieces were laying together when found. Mr. Lyman intends to place them with the curious in the rooms of the Historical Society.

ORGANIZED

Sam, the colored driver of an ox team, saw a little lizard crawling up a tree. He flourished his long whip and very deftly snapped off the lizard's head. Further along the road, with skillful precision, he picked a horsefly off the fence with the same weapon. His skill as a marksman was next exhibited on a chipmunk that showed his head above the ground.

A white companion finally said: "Sam, take a crack at that hornet's nest." Sam grinned and replied: "No suh, no, suh, boss; them fellahs is awgunized."

LAW ENFORCEMENT

This is an off-year politically. No state offices are to be filled. But it is the year in which we choose officials to enforce all laws. Some counties elect a District Attorney, others elect Jury Commissioners. They should be people of known hostility to al law breakers—bootleggers for instance. One Jury Commissioner might well be a woman. Locally Mayor and Aldermen in cities, Justices and Constables in rural districts and School Directors everywhere should be of high character and temperance proclivities. These jobs being unprofitable, the office must seek the man; the citizens must persuade suitable persons to stand, and must circulate the candidates' petitions. Circulating is easy. A letter addressed "County Commissioner," stating the offices for which petitions are wanted should be mailed to the County seat. Return mail blanks petitions plainly showing how they are to be filled out. Only ten need sign for Justice, Constable, Mayor or School Director; one hundred for District Attorney, Jury Commissioner or Sheriff. All signers must belong to one party, not necessarily the same candidate's. At the general election in off-years like this, party lines are largely disregarded. For that reason, it is recommended that for each law enforcement candidate a petition be filed for the dominant party's nomination, and also one for that of the Prohibition Party. The latter practically insures the appearance of the candidate's name on the ballot at the general election. The Prohibition Party has a ballot at the Primary and a place on the Election ballot, but its members sedom aspire to local offices. Therefore it need not be difficult to obtain ten Prohibition signatures for a genuine law-enforcement candidate. If the enrolled Prohibitionists of the district number less than ten, all can be easily visited, and asked to attend the primary and write on their ballots the enforcement candidate's name and address. Enrollment lists may be seen at the County Commissioner's office or locally, at the Assessors. Circulation of petitions may begin July 2nd, and, for safety, should be mailed to County Commissioners' office before August 7th.

Elisha Kent Kane.

MT. JEWET WOMAN DIED ON STREET

Mt. Jewett, June 30.— This community was inexpressibly shocked last night at news of the sudden death of Mrs. Estella Farman, aged about 65 years, a well and favorably known resident, who dropped dead on Anderson street about 9:15 o'clock, without an instant's warning.

In company with her daughter, Mrs. George Daughterty, she had attended Rebekah lodge and with two other women, following the meeting, was going to call on a sick friend. The party was proceeding along the street when Mrs. Farman suddenly dropped to the walk and apparently expired immediately. Heart failure was the cause of her death, although she had never heretofore been troubled with heart ailments.

Mrs. Farman made her home with her daughter, Mrs. George Daugherty, and is survived by three other daughters and one son.—Kane Republican, Saturday.

CONTRACTORS ATTENTION

The Commissioners of the county of McKean will receive at their office at Court House, Smethport, Pa., until 2 o'clock P. M. Monday, July 16, 1923, sealed bids for removing the stone in old abutment and placing for riprapping and for furnishing all labor and material necessary to build a concrete abutment and wing walls for East Abutement at bridge over Potato Creek, at Farmers Valley, Pa., in accordance with plans and specifications on file on and after July 9, 1923 at their office. Cash or certified check for 10 % of amount of bid must accompany each bid and the right is reserved to reject and all bids.

Making Railroad History in 1923

DURING the remainder of the present year the railroads will be confronted with the task of handling the greatest volume of traffic in American history. The demands for freight service in that period seem certain to exceed the peaks of war time and the boom of 1920.

To make good in 1923 means that all previous records must be broken. That is a big job for railroad managers and employes. There must be no failure—for failure would be a national disaster. In meeting the situation the railroads have solemnly pledged themselves to a great program of concerted and co-operative action.

The success of that program is contingent upon the wholehearted support of the public, the loyalty of every man in the railroad service, and freedom from the ill-timed and demoralizing interjection of politics. Any man who strives to make the railroads a political football in 1923 when they are grappling with the most difficult and momentous task in their history, may be stigmatized as an enemy of good government.

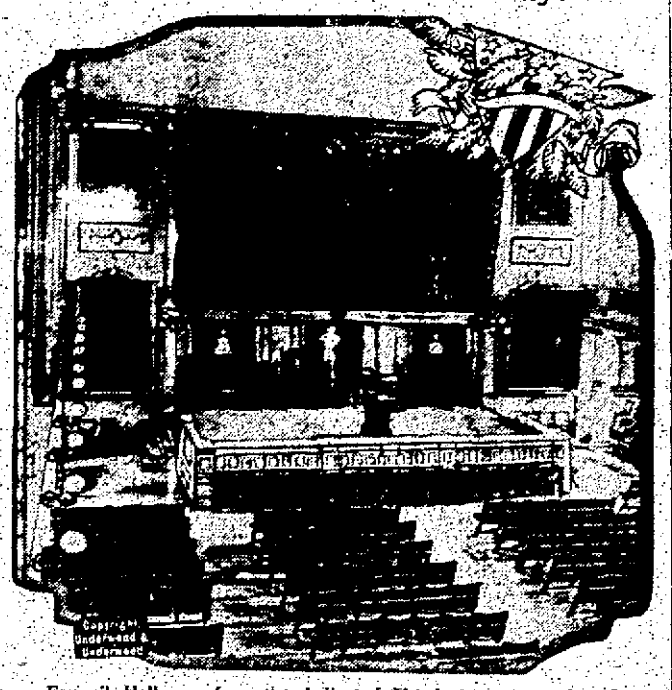
As It Was in Colonial Days



Faneuil Hall was formally dedicated March 14, 1763, when James Otis, the patriot, delivered the address in which he dedicated the hall to the "Cause of Liberty." Town meetings of the Revolutionary period followed.

Faneuil hall in Boston, the "cradle of liberty," probably of greater historical interest than any other building in the United States with the exception, perhaps, of Independence hall, Philadelphia, is to be restored to its original Colonial beauty and completely fireproofed as soon as certain details of arrangement can be completed, the Christian Science Monitor states. Ralph Adams Cram, chairman of the city planning board, has been intrusted with the work of architect. It was he who as president of the Boston Society of Architects, Frank Choteau Brown, and several others, worked out the plan in detail several years ago. This was approved by the mayor at that time and $65,000 appropriated for the work. It is this sum that is now to be expended under the jurisdiction of the mayor in fulfillment of a campaign promise, with a possible addition of several thousand dollars.

The countless layers of dirty yellow paint now on the building are to be removed, revealing the original brick. Bricks in the face of the building that have become damaged and apertures that have been filled—with putty or cement will be replaced or mended with specially made new bricks and the wooden and cloth awnings attached to the lower story that now disfigure the building will be replaced by an iron veranda with a glass roof in Colonial design. A fireproof stairway will replace the present one to the auditorium on the second floor and a better passageway constructed to the rooms above which for years have been occupied as headquarters and museum by the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company, founded in 1637 as the Military Company of Massachusetts.

Faneuil hall was formally dedicated March 14, 1763, James Otis, patriot, delivering the hall to the "Cause of Liberty." Then followed those town meetings of the Revolutionary period which gave the hall its sobriquet. When the Stamp act was repealed in 1768 the hall was illuminated. On the motion of Samuel Adams, which George Bancroft, the historian, says "contained the whole Revolution," the Boston committee of correspondence, whose duty was to "state the rights of the colonists," was stationed there. During the siege of Boston, the hall was used as a playhouse. A play by General Burgoyne, "The Blockade of Boston," with British officers as actors, was broken up at its performance by the news that the "Yanks are attacking our works in Charlestown."

In that hall Wendell Phillips made his first anti-slavery speech in 1837. Daniel Webster, Charles Sumner and other famous men have spoken there.

Ever since the Revolution, Faneuil hall has been the great place for popular gatherings in Boston. Any group of citizens has the right to call a public meeting there, free of cost, on request to the city authorities.

AT YORKTOWN 142 YEARS AGO

How News of Glorious Victory Stirred the Land at the End of the Revolution.

On October 28, 142 years ago, the cry "The war is over!" began to ring through the land, but it was not until four days later, when the official word of Cornwallis' surrender reached the Continental congress that the real celebration began, says the New York Sun. The acclaim with which the news was received, old records disclose, was not unlike that with which the American people in November, 1918, greeted the capitulation of the Hun. There were no limousines dragging tin cans and old wash boilers about the streets, no back-firing motortrucks, but there were—well, here is the story:

The ending of the long struggle for independence was in sight after the hostile army had been driven from New Jersey at the battle of Springfield June 23, 1780. The war, for the most part, was transferred to the southern states, though the British retained control of Manhattan island.

Cornwallis believed in 1781 that if the South could be subjugated, especially Virginia, the war would be won. Lafayette, with his army, was being pushed northward from the Carolinas by the British. Cornwallis finally made his way into the peninsula between the York and James rivers, where he established a base of supplies at Yorktown.

Lafayette was about twenty miles away and in constant touch with Washington, who was waiting information regarding the French fleet. Lafayette wanted to attack the enemy, but Washington deemed such a movement premature.

Washington finally effected a junction with the forces of Lafayette, making an army of 16,000 men, while Cornwallis had about 7,500 bottled up on the peninsula, his only hope being from the assistance which might come to him from the British navy. Vigorously pressing the siege, Washington secured from Cornwallis overtures for a surrender on October 17, and articles of surrender were finally agreed upon. The artillery, guns, accoutrements and public stores of every description were to be delivered to the victors, the officers to retain their sidearms and the soldiers to keep their private property of every kind.

Promptly at noon on the day agreed upon for the surrender, October 19, the gates of the fort were opened and a detachment of American infantry and French grenadiers entered and took possession. Two hours later, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the enemy marched out, with colors furled, to the tune "The World Is Upside Down."

Washington dispatched with all haste his trusted adjutant, Col. Tench Tilghman, to Philadelphia, where the Continental congress was sitting. The young soldier took the long trip on horseback. Riding practically night and day, he reached the Quaker city at midnight on October 23, four days after the surrender. After finding his way with all haste to the home of Thomas McKean, the president of congress, he rapped so violently the door knocker that one of the night watch several blocks away hurried over to learn the cause of the disturbance.

Soon the news was being proclaimed throughout the city. The cry was taken up, not only by the watch, but by hundreds of citizens, rushing half dressed from their beds into the street. The bellman of the old statehouse was hurried out from his home to announce the tidings; lights were seen moving in every house; the people were astir as they had not been before since the day when the Declaration of Independence had been promulgated; five years before. The city was wild with joy. Soon the cannon were booming. Charles Thompson, secretary of congress, in his rounds of the homes where the members were living, found his errand of notification useless. The patriots were all in readiness for the early morning session and eager to hear the official dispatch from Washington.

A prayer of thanksgiving was offered, several speeches made, and then the congress adjourned to the Lutheran church where at 2 o'clock thanks were given "to Almighty God for crowning the armies of the United States and its ally with success."

Dispatch riders were sent out in every direction, heralds of a new era, the dawn of a democracy, whose influence was eventually to permeate every path of the earth. Congress voted the thanks of the nation and appropriate honors to Washington, Rochambeau, De Grasse, and a day was appointed for general thanksgiving and prayer throughout the Union, for God's great favors to the struggling patriots. Legislative bodies, executive councils, city corporations, private societies, churches and other organizations overwhelmed Washington with congratulatory addresses; bonfires were kindled on the mountain peaks.

Museum Gets Montgomery Relic.

The sword of Brig. Gen. Richard Montgomery of the Continental army, who led the assault on Quebec and was killed at the first discharge of the British infantry on December 31, 1775, was formally transferred to the national museum in accordance with the congressional resolution of February 22.

CHILDREN OF FORMER RESIDENT ARE FEATURED IN MOVIE PICTURE.

Kenneth aged five and Bobby aged two, small sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Knapp, formerly of this place, had their pictures taken for the movies last week in company with the 16 wolf puppies belonging to Dr. McCleery of Kane. The pictures show the children playing with the puppies, also Dr. McCleery feeding and romping with the big wolves.

The pictures were taken by C. J. McDannell of Erie for the Fox News Corporation, and were released Saturday. An Erie picture house is showing them this week.

"KING OF BEARS" GOES AFTER BERRIES.

Olean, July 2.—Blackberries will soon be ripe. Fast Black, king of the bears that spent the summer in the Vandalia section southwest of Olean, and the winter in the big woods of Pennsylvania, has gone over the Old Bear Trail into summer quarters. He is the first of the animals of the season.

Big, black and speedy, Fast Black is the most famous of the travelers of the Old Bear Trail. He was seen hitting southwestward by employes of the oil leases in the section late Saturday afternoon.

He is always first to go where the berries are big and juicy, and he is the last to leave for his Pennsylvania "bedroom" before the wintry days.

HIGHWAY POLICE CAN SEARCH CARS.

Harrisburg, June 29.—Motorists will be interested in important changes in the legislation regulating motor vehicles, which will go into effect in 1924 and which are now made public by State Highway Commissioner Paul D. Wright of Erie.

Chief among the new regulations will be a highway patrol of some 300 men through the state who will have the right to make arrests for speed violations and other infractions, report damaged pavements, and even the right and seizure of cars carrying liquor, of believed to have been stolen.

Another change makes obligatory the passing of an examination by persons seeking drivers' licenses after March 1921, except in the cases of those drivers who have had licenses in preceding years and are seeking a renewal. All new drivers after that date and those who allow a year to elapse in which they do not have a license must pass prescribed tests. In addition the new law will provide that an owner's card which accompanies the auto license does not entitle a person to drive, and every owner must also have a driver's license.

Justices of the peace will no longer have the right to impose fines and sentences in collusion with constables and highway policemen, but must recognize the right of persons arrested to make an appeal to courts, if properly presented.

It will also change the system of applying for license plates through notaries or justices of the peace, the new method being to fill out applications furnished by the department, which will be accompanied by a check, which when received at Harrisburg will promptly be honored. Fees for making out the applications are in this manner eliminated.

The outstanding feature in the new regulations, however, is seen in the highway patrol force, which will be clothed with all the rights of ordinary policemen and in addition will have the power of "search and seizure." One of their duties will be to make arrests of all drivers whose cars have glaring headlights, a nuisance common enough now, even though the cars are equipped with so-called safety lenses, and Commissioner Wright is of the opinion that of the 150 lenses now in use, only a dozen or so will pass the test which the department expects to make.

Another feature is seen in the ruling on dealers' tags, which will be permitted to be used unlimitedly on their cars, the only changes being in the increase of the fee to $25 for the first two sets and $10 for each set after that. This increase is for the purpose of discouraging persons with two or three cars trying to secure cheaper tags.

SOME HAND PLANTS DOWN FOREVER

National Glass Budget:—A little improvement in demand for window glass from jobbers' warehouses is reported. Many buildings that were started this spring are about ready to be glazed. The general expectation is that there will be a gradual increase in volume of business from now until late fall. Manufacturers state that orders placed with them during the early part of this week show an increase over preceding weeks.

No large shipments of window glass have been reported as coming into this country lately, it is expected there will be an increase during the coming month.

Some authorities state that there will be considerable glass imported into this country, now that the strike in Belgium is settled, as considerable of it collected during that period.

It is doubtful if the hand operated facilities for window glass, will be opened, while in some new machines are already being installed. The production during the summer and fall will necessarily be limited because of the few factories which are in a position to be operated.

No doubt there will be great demand for window glass during the summer because of the large amount of building started early in the present year.

PRESIDENT HARDING ENJOYS WONDERS OF YELLOWSTONE PARK

(On board President Harding's special train, June 30.)—President Harding today turned from the crowds and from speech making to two days of rest and enjoyment of nature's wonders in Yellowstone's wonderful park.

The presidential party will spend today and tomorrow in the park, devoting most of the time to motoring about the park in the much the same manner as the thousands of other American citizens who visit the park each year.

Secretary of the Interior Work, who has charge of the National park has been trying to persuade the president to do some trout fishing but Mr. Harding isn't generally regarded as much of a fisherman and it is doubted whether he will try his luck with the fly.

Extensive preparations are reported to have been made by the National park service for the visit of the president and Mrs. Harding. Agents of the service who have spent years in Yellowstone have sent to Dr. Mather of the Park service reports as to the exact times the more intermittent geysers play and the schedule of the party has been so mapped out as to bring it to these geysers just as they get into action. Mr. Mather, who joined the party at Salt Lake city, will direct the trip
